ALLURI SITA RAMA RAJU 126th BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

04.07.2023

BY

DEPARMENTS OF HISTORY & POLITICAL SCIENCE

ALLURI SITA RAMA RAJU

Born on 04 July 1897, in a village called Mogallu near Bhimavaram in Andhra Pradesh, Alluri Sitarama Raju was a sanyasi and a strong believer in justice who raised his voice and waged many a battle against unlawful British policies.

It is said that Sitarama Raju completed his initial years of schooling in his native village and then shifted to Visakhapatnam for his higher studies. By the age of 18, he renounced all worldly pleasures and became a sanyasi. He roamed the hills and forests of the Agency area as a bala sanyasi and mingled with the local tribal community. The tribals, in turn, regarded him as a mystic who would rescue them from their humiliating existence at the hands of the British authorities.

Initially, Sitarama Raju, under the influence of Gandhiji's Non-cooperation movement, inspired the tribals to seek justice in the local panchayat courts and boycott the colonial courts. However, these steps did not alleviate their suffering and eventually, he used the this movement to spread awareness about the need for change.

In August 1922, he launched what is now known as the Rampa Rebellion against the British. The Rampa administrative area was home to about 28,000 tribes. These tribes followed the 'Podu' system of cultivation, whereby every year some amounts of forest tracts were cleared for cultivation, as it was their only source for food. While for the tribes, the forests were essential for their survival, the Britishers wanted to evict them so that they could plunder these areas for wood, which would eventually help in building their railways and ships.

He has left behind an inspiring legacy of anti-imperialist rebellion. Today, history remembers him as a fearless revolutionary, who, even though a non-tribal, who fought for the rights and freedom of the tribal people. He was honoured for his valour and fiery spirit with the title, "Manyam Veerudu" (Hero of the Jungle). Every year, the Government of Andhra Pradesh commemorates his birth date, the 4th of July, as a state festival.

QUIT INDIA MOVEMENT DAY

QUIT INDIA MOVEMENT DAY 2023

8th AUGUST 2023

QUIT INDIA MOVEMENT

The Quit India Movement, also known as the August Kranti Movement, was a movement launched at the Bombay session of the All-India Congress Committee by Mahatma Gandhi on 8th August 1942, during World War II, demanding an end to British rule in India.

After the failure of the Cripps Mission to secure Indian support for the British war effort, Gandhi made a call to Do or Die in his Quit India speech delivered in Bombay on 8 August 1942 at the Gowalia Tank Maidan. The All India Congress Committee launched a mass protest demanding what Gandhi called "An Orderly British Withdrawal" from India. Even though it was at war, the British were prepared to act. Almost the entire leadership of the Indian National Congress was imprisoned without trial within hours of Gandhi ji 's speech. Most spent the rest of the war in prison and out of contact with the masses. The British had the support of the Viceroy's Council (which had a majority of Indians), of the All-India Muslim League, the Hindu Mahasabha, the princely states, the Indian Imperial Police, the British Indian Army, and the Indian Civil Service. Many Indian businessmen profiting from heavy wartime spending did not support the Quit India Movement. Many students paid more attention to Subhas Chandra Bose, who was in exile and supporting the Axis Powers. The only outside support came from the Americans, as President Franklin D. Roosevelt pressured Prime Minister Winston Churchill to give in to some of the Indian demands. The Quit India campaign was effectively crushed. The British refused to grant immediate independence, saying it could happen only after the war had ended.

TANGUTURI PRAKSAM PANTHULU

152nd BIRTH ANNIVERSARY

ANDHRA KESARI
TANGUTURI
PRAKASAM PANTULU

23rd AUGUST 2023

TANGUTURI PRAKSAM PANTHULU

Tanguturi Prakasam Panthulu, popularly known as Andhra Kesari, is known as the most incorruptible politician. He was a jurist, freedom fighter, social reformer who gave away all what he earned to the poor. Born into a very poor Brahmin family on August 23, 1872, Prakasam Pantulu became the first chief minister of Andhra state, the first state to be formed on linguistic basis. Later, he played a prominent role in the formation of Andhra Pradesh.

He attained the title Andhra Kesari after bravely standing at gunpoint during a protest against the Simon Commission in Madras. Having lost his father at a very young age of 11 years, his mother took up the responsibility of earning for the family. Without sufficient income, Praksam used to have lunch at the houses of wealthy people. Returning to India, he practised law for sometime and gained popularity for criminal cases after he argued the Ash Murder Case. He earned well by practising law, but he left the profession and worked as the editor of Swarajya which was published in English, Telugu and Tamil languages simultaneously. He also ran a national-level school and a khadi production unit.

In 1921, he entered politics by getting elected as the president of the Andhra Region Congress Committee. In 1928, the Simon Commission did not allow protests in Madras. However, crowds gathered at the Madras High Court near Paris Corner and when the police opened fire to quell the mob, a youth named Parthasarathi died. The cops warned that anybody who would get near the body would also be shot but Prakasam tore his shirt and stood in front of the gun with his bare chest and dared the cops. His political life had several milestones -- he got elected as the chief minister of Madras on April 30, 1946. However, he remained as the CM only for 13 months. Setting aside his personal security, Prakasam met Razakar leader Qasim Rizvi in 1948 and warned him. Praising his bravery, the Razakars even bowed down to him in honour. On October 1, 1953, after Potti Sriramulu died staging indefinite hunger strike, Prakasam was nominated as the first chief minister of separate Andhra state. Though his services as the CM was remarkable, he could not continue in the position for more than 14 months. He quit active politics and passed away on May 20, 1957. He wrote his autobiography titled "The Journey of My Life". He was born poor but earned good money by practising law. However, he gave away all his money for the society and died poor. Surprisingly, his son worked as an attender in a college established in Andhra Kesari's name in Rajahmundry.

Pingali Venkayya birth anniversary August 2nd -2022

Pingali Venkayya Birth... Pingali Venkayya birth anniversary: All you need to know about the man who designed India's national flag Pingali Venkayya died on July 4, 1963. His last wish was to wrap the tricolour around his body, which was fulfilled. To celebrate the contributions of Pingali Venkayya, the Ministry of Culture is organising a 'Tiranga Utsav' on his 146th birth anniversary. News Pingali Venkayya was born on August 2, 1878, in Andhra Pradesh. Pingali Venkayya was fluent in Telugu, Hindi, Sanskrit, English, Japanese and Arabic. In 1921, Mahatama Gandhi gave his approval to Venkayya's design for the national flag.

Design of national flag:

The first flag, known as the Swaraj flag, had two red and green bands that stood for the country's two largest religious groups, Hindus and Muslims. A charkha, which stood for Swaraj, was also present on the flag. Venkayya added a white band on Mahatma Gandhi's recommendation. White stood for world peace. Although the All-India Congress Committee (AICC) did not formally recognise the first tricolour, it started to be flown at all Congress events. The flag continued to be used, but it wasn't until 1931 that questions regarding the banner's religious content were brought up. A Flag Committee was formed with this in mind, and they developed a fresh concept known as Purna Swaraj. Saffron was used in place of red and the colours were rearranged such that saffron was on top, followed by white and then green. On the middle white strip, the charkha was positioned. The colours represented values rather than communities; saffron stood for bravery and selflessness, white for righteousness and peace, and green for strength and faith. The charkha advocated for the general welfare of society. When the flag committee gathered in July 1947, it was agreed to utilise the Ashoka Chakra since the "Charkha" (weaving wheel) appeared distinct from the sides (a wheel with 24 spokes). The country had 24 states at the moment of Independence, as shown by the 24 spokes.

The department of History and Political Science jointly celebrated 146th Birth Anniversary of Sri. Pingali Venkayya in our college. The departments arranged a meeting in which Sri Sd. Madina, In charge Principal, presided the meeting and spoke about the greatness of Pingali Venkayya, and advise the students to take inspiration of his life. Smt. P. Tulasi Kumari, HOD of History, explained the biography of the same. Sri S. Rajendra Prasad, HOD of Political Science, has given speech on importance of national flag to the students. QUIT INDIA MOVEMENT AUGUST 8th– 2022

The Quit India Movement, also known as the August Kranti Movement, was a movement launched at the Bombay session of the All-India Congress Committee by Mahatma Gandhi on 8th August 1942, during World War II, demanding an end to British rule in India.

After the failure of the Cripps Mission to secure Indian support for the British war effort, Gandhi made a call to Do or Die in his Quit India speech delivered in Bombay on 8 August 1942 at the Gowalia Tank Maidan. The All India Congress Committee launched a mass protest demanding what Gandhi called "An Orderly British Withdrawal" from India. Even though it was at war, the British were prepared to act. Almost the entire leadership of the Indian National Congress was imprisoned without trial within hours of Gandhi ji 's speech. Most spent the rest of the war in prison and out of contact with the masses. The British had the support of the Viceroy's Council (which had a majority of Indians), of the All-India Muslim League, the Hindu Mahasabha, the princely states, the Indian Imperial Police, the British Indian Army, and the Indian Civil Service. Many Indian businessmen profiting from heavy wartime spending did not support the Quit India Movement. Many students paid more attention to Subhas Chandra Bose, who was in exile and supporting the Axis Powers. The only outside support came from the Americans, as President Franklin D. Roosevelt pressured Prime Minister Winston Churchill to give in to some of the Indian demands. The Quit India campaign was effectively crushed. The British refused to grant immediate independence, saying it could happen only after the war had ended.

The Department of History and Political Science jointly celebrated Quit India movement Day on 08-08-2022 in our college. The departments arranged a meeting in which Dr.D.Chittibabu, principal, presided the meeting and spoke about the importance of the Quit India movement Day. Sri Hare Rama Krishna, Vice Principal, explained how the freedom fighters faced the struggle in those days. Smt. P.Tulasi kumari, Lecturer in History and Sri. INTERNATIONAL DAY OF DEMOCRACY
SEPTEMBER-15th 2020

In 2007 the United Nations General Assembly resolved to observe 15 September as the International Day of Democracy—with the purpose of promoting and upholding the principles of democracy—and invited all member states and organizations to commemorate the day in an appropriate manner that contributes to raising public awareness.

while democracies share common features, there is no single model of democracy and that democracy does not belong to any country or region... ..democracy is a universal value based on the freely-expressed will of people to determine their own political, economic, social and cultural systems, and their full participation in all aspects of life.

In September 1997 the Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU) adopted a Universal Declaration on Democracy. That Declaration affirms the principles of democracy, the elements and exercise of democratic government, and the international scope of democracy.

Government Degree College, Seethanagaram observed the International Day of Democracy on September 15th 2020. The programme was designed by Sri.S. Rajendra Prasad, Head, Department of Political Science And NSS. The programme was conducted at the Seminar Hall of Arts Block. Sri BV Thirupanyam, the Principal of the college, led the programme. The fundamental duties of citizens were added to the constitution by the 42nd Amendment in 1976 under Article 51A part 4A, upon the recommendations of the Swarna Singh Committee. Initially while drafting the Constitution of India fundamental duties were not part of Constitution of India. The fundamental duties were inspired by constitution of USSR (now Russia). Originally ten in number, the fundamental duties were increased to eleven by the 86th Amendment in 2002, which added a duty on every parent or guardian to ensure that their child or ward was provided opportunities for education between the ages of six and fourteen years. The other fundamental duties obligate all citizens to respect the national symbols of India, including the constitution, to cherish its heritage, preserve its composite culture and assist in its defence. They also obligate all Indians to promote the spirit of common brotherhood, protect the environment and public property, develop scientific temper, abjure violence, and strive towards excellence in all spheres of life. The violation of fundamental duties is not punishable offense unless it is backed by Legislative enactments like Prevention of Insults to National Honour Act, 1971, Forest Act, Environment Act, Pollution Act and others. Supreme court has ruled that these fundamental duties can also help the court to decide the constitutionality of a law passed by the legislature. There is reference to such duties in international instruments such as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights.

INTERNATIONAL YOGA DAY 21-06-2019

The International Day of Yoga has been celebrated annually on 21 June since 2015, following its inception in the United Nations General Assembly in 2014. Yoga is a physical, mental, and spiritual practice that originated in India. The Indian Prime Minister, Narendra Modi, in his UN address in 2014, had suggested the date of 21 June, as it is the longest day of the year in the Northern Hemisphere and shares a special significance in many parts of the world.

ORIGIN

The idea of an International Day of Yoga was first proposed by the current Prime Minister of India, Narendra Modi, during his speech at the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA), on 27 September 2014. He stated:

Yoga is an invaluable gift of India's ancient tradition. It embodies unity of mind and body; thought and action; restraint and fulfilment; harmony between man and nature; a holistic approach to health and well-being. It is not about exercise but to discover the sense of oneness with yourself, the world and the nature. By changing our lifestyle and creating consciousness, it can help in well-being. Let us work towards adopting an International Yoga Day.

— Narendra Modi, UN General Assembly

Following this initial proposal, the UN adopted the draft resolution, entitled "Day of Yoga", on 2014. The consultations were convened by the delegation of India. In 2015 Reserve Bank of India issued a 10 rupees commemorative coin to mark the International Day of Yoga. In April 2017, UN Postal Administration (UNPA) issued 10 stamps on Asanas on a single sheet to mark International Day of Yoga.

NATIONAL INTEGRATION DAY 31-OCT-2019

Sardar Vallabhbhai Jhaverbhai Patel (31 October 1875 – 15 December 1950), popularly known as Sardar Patel, was an Indian statesman. He served as the First Deputy Prime Minister of India. He was an Indian barrister and a senior leader of the Indian National Congress who played a leading role in the country's struggle for independence and guided its integration into a united, independent nation. He was one of the conservative members of the Indian National Congress. In India and elsewhere, he was often called Sardar, meaning "chief" in Hindi, Urdu, and Persian. He acted as Home Minister during the political integration of India and the Indo-Pakistani War of 1947.

Patel was born in Nadiad District Kheda and raised in the countryside of the state of Gujarat. He was a successful lawyer. He subsequently organised peasants from Kheda, Borsad, and Bardoli in Gujarat in non-violent civil disobedience against the British Raj, becoming one of the most influential leaders in Gujarat. He was appointed as the 49th President of the Indian National Congress, organising the party for elections in 1934 and 1937 while promoting the Quit India Movement.

As the first Home Minister and Deputy Prime Minister of India, Patel organised relief efforts for refugees fleeing to Punjab and Delhi from Pakistan and worked to restore peace. He led the task of forging a united India, successfully integrating into the newly independent nation those British colonial provinces that formed the Dominion of India. Besides those provinces that had been under direct British rule, approximately 565 self-governing princely states had been released from British suzerainty by the Indian Independence Act of 1947. Patel persuaded almost every princely state to accede to India. His commitment to national integration in the newly independent country was total and uncompromising, earning him the sobriquet "Iron Man of India". He is also remembered as the "patron saint of India's civil servants" for having established the modern all-India services system. He is also called the "Unifier of India". The Statue of Unity, the world's tallest statue, was dedicated to him on 31 October 2018 which is approximately 182 metres (597 ft) in height.

Training for Student Youth on Disaster Management and First Aid

on 03 to 05, Oct-2018

Disaster management refers to the conservation of lives and property during natural or human-made disasters. Disaster management plans are multi-layered and are planned to address issues such as floods, hurricanes, fires, mass failure of utilities, the rapid spread of disease, and droughts. India is especially vulnerable to natural disasters because of its unique geo-climatic condition, having recurrent floods, droughts, cyclones, earthquakes, and landslides. As India is a very large country, different regions are vulnerable to different natural disasters. For example, during the rainy season, the peninsular regions of South India are mostly affected by cyclones, and states of West India experience severe drought during the summer season.

First aid refers to the emergency or immediate care you should provide when a person is injured or ill until full medical treatment is available. For minor conditions, first aid care may be enough. ... The decision to act appropriately with first aid can mean the difference between life and death.

Government Degree College, Seethanagaram, conducted the Training For Student Youth On Disaster Management And First Aid On 03, 04, 05 October-2018 at college premises in collaboration with Disaster Response & Fire Service Government Of Andhra Pradesh, Technical Support by Indian Red Cross Society Andhra Pradesh State Branch. WORLD HUMAN RIGHTS DAY 10-12-2019

Human Rights Day is the day in 1948 the United Nations General Assembly adopted the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

The formal inception of Human Rights Day dates from 1950 after the Assembly passed resolution 423(V) inviting all States and interested organisations to adopt 10 December of each year as Human Rights Day. The popularity of the day can be shown by the fact that the commemorative Human Rights Day stamp issued by the United Nations Postal Administration in 1952, received approximately 200,000 advance orders.^[5]

When the General Assembly adopted the Declaration, with 48 states in favor and eight abstentions, it was proclaimed as a "common standard of achievement for all peoples and all nations", towards which individuals and societies should "strive by progressive measures, national and international, to secure their universal and effective recognition and observance". The measure was received by both advocates and critics alike as "being more declarative than legislative, more suggestive than binding."¹

Although the Declaration with its broad range of political, civil, economic, social and cultural rights is not a binding document, it inspired more than 60 human rights instruments which together constitute an international standard of human rights. Today the general consent of all United Nations Member States on the basic Human Rights laid down in the Declaration makes it even stronger and emphasizes the relevance of Human Rights in our daily lives.

The High Commissioner for Human Rights, as the main United Nations rights official and his Office plays a major role in coordinating efforts for the yearly observation of Human Rights Day:

Today, poverty prevails as the gravest human rights challenge in the world. Combating poverty, deprivation and exclusion is not a matter of charity, and it does not depend on how rich a country is. By tackling poverty as a matter of human rights obligation, the world will have a better chance of abolishing this scourge in our lifetime... Poverty eradication is an achievable goal.

— UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Louise Arbour, 10 December 2006

The 60th anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights occurred on 10 December 2008, and the UN Secretary-General launched a year-long campaign leading up to this anniversary. Because the UDHR holds the world record as the most translated document (except for the Bible), organizations around the globe used the year to focus on helping people everywhere learn about their rights.

On 9 December 2001, President George W. Bush made a Presidential proclamation that Human Rights Week began on 9 December. He also made the same proclamation on 10 December 2008.
